

Lauren Bryne: Camera trainee

I work as a camera trainee in the film industry.

There is a time that I used to sit and Google how to get into film.

I thought that living in the North East would restrict my opportunities. Eventually I came across ScreenSkills.

I had nothing to lose so I applied for their training programme and it's paid off.

I've been on a lot of jobs where I am the only female in the department, and I'm okay with that but I would like to see more women in the camera department.

Anyone can do it. Grab every opportunity that you can.

Find your future. ScreenSkills.
